

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, April 3. 1706.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated April 9.

Rome, March 20.

THE Season is very cold, by Reason of the sharp Winds, and the great Snows. Yesterday Signior Morosini, Ambassador of Venice, had a publick Audience of the Pope. To Day the Envoy of King Augustus of Poland had a long Conference with Cardinal Paulucci Secretary of State, to whom he communicated some Dispatches which he receiv'd Yesterday by an Extraordinary Courier. A Congregation has been newly held on the Affair of the National Churches in this City: And his Holiness having seen the Books and Registers of the Administrators of the 2 Churches of St. Lewis of the French Nation, and of St. James of the Spanish, who have submitted to the Apostolical Visitation, and satisfied himself that the Pious Legacies and Donations made to them have been rightly employ'd, has order'd the Sequestration of their Revenues to be annull'd. But the German Church dell'Anima, and that of St. Anthony of the Portoguese, continue still shut up, their Administrators waiting the Return of the Expresses sent to the Emperor and the King of Portugal, to inform them of this matter, and to desire their Instructions thereupon. 'Tis talk'd Don Anibal Albani the Pope's Nephew, will be sent to Naples, to make up the Differences between his Holiness and that Court; and that Instructions on that subject are come to the Duke of Escalona Viceroy of Naples from the King of Spain, whom his Grandfather has effectually advis'd to give the Pope Satisfaction. Cardinal Jansen is preparing to go for France. 'Tis rumour'd, that the Viceroyship of Naples will be given to the Prince of Vaudemont Governour of the Milneze; because the Duke of Escalona who is at present posses'd of it, has given Umbrage to the 2 Crowns, by refusing at several Times to let the French have the Guard of the Castles of the City of Naples.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated April 9.

Venice, March 27. The 25th Instant the Marquis de Launay, who has quitted the Service of France, in which he was a Lieutenant General, went Post from hence for the Court of Vienna, accompanied by the Count de Boneval Colonel of Foot. They write from Brescia, that the French are reinforc'd on the Oglio by the Arrival of their Recruits: They make great Magazines at Castiglione, and give out that they will begin the Campaign soon after the Arrival of the Duke of Vendome. The Imperialists receive Recruits likewise from time to time, and being apprehensive the French would advance from Palazzuolo by the Defiles of the Mountains to surprize the Post of San Osetto, they have sent thither a Reinforcement of 600 Foot and 400 Horse. General Steinau is gone from Brescia, to review Bergamo and other Places. We have receiv'd Advice by the Way of Bosnia, that the Grand Vizier is dead; and that it is very probable that Dignity will be conferr'd by the Porte upon Ibrahim Pasha, who after the Peace of Carlowitz concluded with the Emperor, was sent Ambassador to the Court of Vienna. Signior Davia, late Nuncio from the Pope to the Court of Vienna, has pass'd through this City in his Return to Rome.

Genoa, March 21. The Castle of Nice is wholly demolish'd, and the Materials with which it was built are transported to Antibes. The Mines that were made to blow up it's Works, kill'd and wounded several Persons, and damag'd the neighbouring Houses, when they were sprung. An Edict has been publish'd by the French at Nice, which enjoyns the Inhabitants thereof and especially Landlords that are absent, to return to their Houses by a time limited, on very severe Penalties.

Cazal, March 24. We are getting ready here all things necessary for the Siege of Turin; and the Duke of Savoy on his Part is prepar'd to make a vigorous Defence: He has caus'd a great Number of Works to be made on the Hill of the Capuchins and about the Citadel, to render them of very difficult Approach; so that it will be necessary to make several Attacks before the Body of the Place can be invest'd. The Duke of Mantua is making Preparation for his Departure from Mantua to come and command our Army in Piemont: 'Tis reported as certain, that he will, be follow'd by a Detachment of the Army in Lombardy. The Advices from the Veroneze, say General Pate was marching down the Adige with a Body of 2000 Foot and 1000 Imperial Cuirassiers; and that thereupon M. de Guerchois had drawn Troops together to oppose him.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated April 10.

Vienna, March 27. Some Persons at Court pretend to have Advice, that Count Marfigli is now actually at Constantinople, and has in the Name of the French King made great Offers to the Turkish Court, to engage them to break the Truce with the Emperor, while King Stanislaus of Poland is endeavouring to engage the Tartars to fall upon the Muscovites. Prince Lewis of Baden, has sent several Remonstrances to this Court of the bad Condition of the Troops on the Upper Rhine, and of the extraordinary Preparations made by the Enemy. Prince Eugene of Savoy, has directed his Servants to be ready to set out the 29th Instant, with his Baggage for Italy; and proposes to follow them himself a few Days after. The Prince of Elbœuf is to serve under him as a Volunteer, but has a Promise of the first vacant Regiment. Prince William of Saxe-Gotha, Brother of the reigning Duke of that Name, is come hither; in Order to go to Italy to command the 3000 Saxe-Gothans which England and Holland send thither to reinforce the Emperor's Army. M. Occolucciani, the Hungarian Deputy, is arriv'd here from Tirnau, with an Account that the Chief of the Malecontents have rejected the Emperor's last Proposals for a Cessation of Arms; and that the Ministers Mediators are about to return hither, at least unless the Imperial Court forthwith send new Proposals, for continuing the Negotiations with a better Prospect of Success.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated April 9.

Amburg, April 1. We have Advice, that the Diet of the Empire at Ratisbon, has pass'd a final Resolution touching the Affairs of the War, and sent it to Passau to Cardinal Lamberg the Emperor's first Plenipotentiary. The Roman Catholick Electors and other Princes oppos'd strenuously the Demand of the Protestants that the 2 Generals of the Empire, viz. the Prince of Baden and the Margrave of Bareith should command the Army by Turns; urging, that it was not a thing practicable, nor had been attempted.

tempted to be put in practice in the preceding Wars that broke out in 1664, 1672, and 1683; but the Protestants alledg'd the Example of the King of France, who as often as he has thought fit to have 2 Marshals in one Army, has caus'd them to command each his Day in Turn; and insisted so positively on it, that 'tis said the Roman Catholicks agreed with them at length; and made it an Article of the said Resolution.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated April 9.

Cologne, April 6. The 4 Regiments of Saxe Gothans that are to serve in Italy the ensuing Campaign in the Pay of England and Holland, are to pass the Rhine at Bon to Day or to Morrow, to proceed on for Italy.

Hague, April 9. The End of last Month, the Minister of the Elector of Treves, who also transacts the Affairs of the Estates of the Circle of Swabia at this Court, deliver'd a Letter from those Estates to their High Mightinesses, (which is presum'd to be of the same Tenour with another Letter written by them at the same time to the Queen of England,) importing in Substance, That that Circle would have their Contingent of Troops ready in time and also their Magazines, and that it was to be wish'd the other Circles and Princes of Germany would be as forward with their Contingents; but seeing the Enemy were making incredible Preparations in Alsace, and threaten'd to make extraordinary Efforts, they earnestly desir'd that England and Holland would have an Eye to the State of things on that side, and assist in preventing the Enemy's breaking into their Circle and ravaging it with that merciless and insolent Fury which the French are wont to exercise wherever they find they have the superiority. They have since reiterated their Instances, hearing that the Troops of Hanover and Hesse Cassel are to leave their Quarters about the middle of this Month to march down to the Maese; and desire that the Prussian Troops which serv'd the last Campaign on the Upper Rhine, may return thither. Yesterday the Prussian Minister M. Smettau gave a noble Entertainment at the Royal House of Honlaerdyke to Signior Mocenigo, late Ambassador of the Republick of Venice at the Court of England, who designs to set out from hence for Venice the 12th Instant.
